The Conservative government is siding with the federal Liberals on the issue of assisted suicide, a political manoeuvre that could tie it to a referendum that offers another campaign issue for the ruling party. Both the prime minister and Justice Minister Peter MacKay insist they are committed to preserving the right of mentally competent patients to seek medical assistance to end their lives. The government wants a bill, introduced last April, to legalize assisted suicide to go to committee before Parliament rises for summer. But it will not be ready by June 3, the day it is scheduled for committee hearings, and because the Supreme Court struck down the main section of the Criminal Code that criminalized assisted suicide, the government has not decided whether it will reintroduce that legislation in the fall. In the meantime, the Supreme Court has asked for submissions from parties with an interest in the issue, the most recent being members of parliament. Given the Liberals' position, they are likely to feel the greatest pressure to say no to an assisted suicide measure.

When you upgrade to the latest version (2.3) you will still have them, but after that, you will have to send the files over to the developer so they can start working on the new version of iStylab (beta) as they will not be able to open them. -jh toj853@yahoo.com jh (9/15/2012) have problems opening files paul (12/15/2010) nibiru sawny (4/8/2013) tora Kate (4/8/2013) Cool zibek.o' (1/14/2013) Hi, Istilab 2.3 has a problem opening files from iBackup or other software.
